

Acknowledgments

Many people and institutions contributed to this report. The authors especially wish to thank the following for their information, insight and inspiration:

Christopher Brown, Open Data Group
Temra Costa, Buy Fresh-Buy Local Director, Community Alliance with Family Farmers
Michael Dimock, President, Roots of Change Fund
Gail Feenstra, Food Systems Coordinator, Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education Program, University of California, Davis
Robert Heuer, Farm Credit Public Policy & Marketing Consultant
Michael Janis, General Manager, San Francisco Wholesale Produce Market
Paula Jones, San Francisco Department of Public Health
Carey Knecht, Policy Research Director, Greenbelt Alliance
Gary Matteson, Vice President, Farm Credit Council
Paul Muller, Co-owner, Full Belly Farm
Bu Nygrens, Owner, Veritable Vegetable
Andy Powning, Greenleaf Produce Company
Kathleen Reed, Research support
Dave Runsten, Executive Director, Community Alliance with Family Farmers
Dan Sumner, Director, Agriculture Issues Center, University of California, Davis
Kevin Westlye, Executive Director, Golden Gate Restaurant Association

This project was made possible by generous funding from:

The San Francisco Foundation
Farm Credit Council
U.S. Ag Bank, FCB (Sacramento)
American AgrCredit (Santa Rosa)
Colusa-Glenn Farm Credit (Colusa)
Farm Credit West (Yuba City)
Yosemite Farm Credit (Turlock)
Roots of Change Fund
Members of American Farmland Trust

This project was sponsored by:

American Farmland Trust is the nation's leading advocate for farm and ranch land conservation. AFT works with communities and individuals to protect the best land from development, plan for agriculture and keep the land healthy. In California, it designs and promotes policies to curb urban sprawl and to help farmers and ranchers safeguard the environment.

<http://www.farmland.org>

Sustainable Agriculture Education (SAGE) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to engaging regional diverse populations with the sustainable agriculture movement and developing urban edge agriculture as a vital urban-rural interface. SAGE focuses on the planning and implementation of Urban Edge Agricultural Parks and on developing a framework for New Ruralism, as a bridge between smart growth and sustainable agriculture.

<http://www.sagecengter.org>

Agriculture in Metropolitan Regions is a program within the Center for Global Metropolitan Studies at the University of California, Berkeley. AMR explores issues at the interface of rural and urbanizing areas with the aim of understanding the values, economies, and policies impacting these most vulnerable of landscapes.

<http://metrostudies.berkeley.edu/agmetroedge/program.shtml>

Cover photo & cover design by Noreen Rei Fukumori

Foodshed map by Jason Jones, GreenInfo

Printed on recycled paper by Autumn Press, Berkeley, California